How many questions does Amy ask?

Q1

Amy: Hi, Simon. What are your neighbours like?

Simon: They're kind and helpful. Some of them are volunteers. They often meet at the community centre and share their different skills. They help us with all kinds of problems.

Q2

Amy: When do they meet?

Simon: Usually they have a "helping hands" meeting at the weekend.

Q3

Amy: Are they going to have a meeting this weekend?

Simon: Yes. There's something wrong with my computer. I'm going to ask a computer engineer to check it. My cousin Annie's bicycle is broken, so she's going to ask someone to fix it.

Q4

Amy: Can you find anyone to help you with your homework?

Simon: Yes. Some college students are ready to help.

Amy: That's really nice. Do the volunteers help the old people too?

Simon: Yes. Some of them often visit the old people and do some shopping for them. This weekend, they'll help the old people clean their flats.

Amy: That's great! You're lucky to live in a neighbourhood like that, Simon.

My neighbours

My neighbours are kind and helpful. Some of them are volunteers. They have ⁽¹⁾ different skills and often help us with ⁽²⁾ all kinds of problems.

Usually there is a "helping hands" meeting ⁽³⁾ at the weekend. People go there when they need help with their ⁽⁴⁾ problems. Computer engineers are popular. They help people ⁽⁵⁾ check their computers. You can also find someone to ⁽⁶⁾ fix things like ⁽⁷⁾ broken bicycles.

Students can get help with their ⁽⁸⁾ homework. There are some college students among the volunteers, and they are always ⁽⁹⁾ ready to help. Volunteers also help the old people.

We are ⁽¹⁰⁾ lucky to live in a neighbourhood like that. People here are like a big family.
